

MRS. WORRY: SHE WOULDN'T BE HAPPY IF SHE COULD

In Our School

BY PAUL WEST

Thursday. That was all right about they not being any more school; the bell ringing as merrily as ever this morning. Torp Stebbins & Andy Anderson said they could understand it, because if it was the end of the year that ought to end everything. Miss Palmer said Oh, yes, it did, that is ever everything of the old year, but it just started a new one & now everybody would set up straight & do sum real studying, as she didn't wish to

So Steve Went Up to the Board and Wrote.

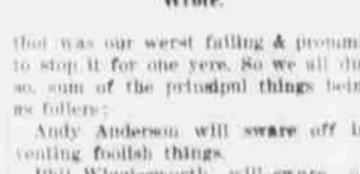

At That Moment Bob Haynes Upset His Ink Bottle.

began the year by using the rattle too much. Let us try, she set to turn over a new leaf & do things better & everything would be happier. At that moment Bob Haynes upset his ink bottle & got it all over his copy book. Miss Palmer said red hair was one boy which was turning over a new leaf pretty quick, but before he did so would go in the dressing room & start a new year just as she feared she would have to.

Everybody Will Do Better.

Almost noon every feller began to think smethin' about it being a new

So Steve Went Up to the Board and Wrote.

that was our worst failin' & promis to stop it for one year. So we all dun so sum of the principal things being as follows:

Andy Anderson will swear off invitng foolish things.

Phil Wiglesworth will swear off oversleeping too hard.

Genevieve Hicks will swear off rit ing such sad poetry.

Torp Stebbins will swear off being half fer school.

George McLaughlin will swear off lendin his littel brother fer persons to try new things on.

Fatty Bellows will swear off think ing about things to ste.

Miss Palmer said that showed a handfull desire on the part of se veral of us & would mark the school much humpler. & now she herself probly had one or two fallings which she coulnt think of just then, but probly sum of us could. & if we would mention them she would tex & not do them any more. Well, nobody could think of anything at all, or if they could they didn't daur say so, as she said:

"Well, this is very flattering, but I am sure I am not so perfect. Think hard, because I want to improve too. Steve Hardy, can you think of sumthig?" Steve said he coul just omittit thing, & she said, "Well, you rite it on the board to remind me of it, & I will not do it all the year." So Steve went up to the board & rite:

"You Likk Us Fellers!"

Miss Palmer said she wouldn't promis not to do that smay mor, as she didn't think it was a failin, but she would try a littel. Wel, we know wut that means, say wut? But it was bridy of Steve to rite it, as the most of us wouldn't daul.

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER DEAD FROM GASOLINE FIRE BURNS

Port Arthur, Tex., Dec. 31.—Mrs. E. M. Barnett, aged 52 years and her mother, Mrs. Mathews, are dead from the effects of burns received from an explosion resulting from using gasoline to start a fire. The two women came here recently from New Iberia, La.

BLUE BLOOD

that was our worst failin' & promis to stop it for one year. So we all dun so sum of the principal things being as follows:

Andy Anderson will swear off invitng foolish things.

Phil Wiglesworth will swear off oversleeping too hard.

Genevieve Hicks will swear off rit ing such sad poetry.

Torp Stebbins will swear off being half fer school.

George McLaughlin will swear off lendin his littel brother fer persons to try new things on.

Fatty Bellows will swear off think ing about things to ste.

Miss Palmer said that showed a handfull desire on the part of se veral of us & would mark the school much humpler. & now she herself probly had one or two fallings which she coulnt think of just then, but probly sum of us could. & if we would mention them she would tex & not do them any more. Well, nobody could think of anything at all, or if they could they didn't daur say so, as she said:

"Well, this is very flattering, but I am sure I am not so perfect. Think hard, because I want to improve too. Steve Hardy, can you think of sumthig?" Steve said he coul just omittit thing, & she said, "Well, you rite it on the board to remind me of it, & I will not do it all the year." So Steve went up to the board & rite:

"You Likk Us Fellers!"

Miss Palmer said she wouldn't promis not to do that smay mor, as she didn't think it was a failin, but she would try a littel. Wel, we know wut that means, say wut? But it was bridy of Steve to rite it, as the most of us wouldn't daul.

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER DEAD FROM GASOLINE FIRE BURNS

Port Arthur, Tex., Dec. 31.—Mrs. E. M. Barnett, aged 52 years and her mother, Mrs. Mathews, are dead from the effects of burns received from an explosion resulting from using gasoline to start a fire. The two women came here recently from New Iberia, La.

BLUE BLOOD

that was our worst failin' & promis to stop it for one year. So we all dun so sum of the principal things being as follows:

Andy Anderson will swear off invitng foolish things.

Phil Wiglesworth will swear off oversleeping too hard.

Genevieve Hicks will swear off rit ing such sad poetry.

Torp Stebbins will swear off being half fer school.

George McLaughlin will swear off lendin his littel brother fer persons to try new things on.

Fatty Bellows will swear off think ing about things to ste.

Miss Palmer said that showed a handfull desire on the part of se veral of us & would mark the school much humpler. & now she herself probly had one or two fallings which she coulnt think of just then, but probly sum of us could. & if we would mention them she would tex & not do them any more. Well, nobody could think of anything at all, or if they could they didn't daur say so, as she said:

"Well, this is very flattering, but I am sure I am not so perfect. Think hard, because I want to improve too. Steve Hardy, can you think of sumthig?" Steve said he coul just omittit thing, & she said, "Well, you rite it on the board to remind me of it, & I will not do it all the year." So Steve went up to the board & rite:

"You Likk Us Fellers!"

Miss Palmer said she wouldn't promis not to do that smay mor, as she didn't think it was a failin, but she would try a littel. Wel, we know wut that means, say wut? But it was bridy of Steve to rite it, as the most of us wouldn't daul.

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER DEAD FROM GASOLINE FIRE BURNS

Port Arthur, Tex., Dec. 31.—Mrs. E. M. Barnett, aged 52 years and her mother, Mrs. Mathews, are dead from the effects of burns received from an explosion resulting from using gasoline to start a fire. The two women came here recently from New Iberia, La.

BLUE BLOOD

that was our worst failin' & promis to stop it for one year. So we all dun so sum of the principal things being as follows:

Andy Anderson will swear off invitng foolish things.

Phil Wiglesworth will swear off oversleeping too hard.

Genevieve Hicks will swear off rit ing such sad poetry.

Torp Stebbins will swear off being half fer school.

George McLaughlin will swear off lendin his littel brother fer persons to try new things on.

Fatty Bellows will swear off think ing about things to ste.

Miss Palmer said that showed a handfull desire on the part of se veral of us & would mark the school much humpler. & now she herself probly had one or two fallings which she coulnt think of just then, but probly sum of us could. & if we would mention them she would tex & not do them any more. Well, nobody could think of anything at all, or if they could they didn't daur say so, as she said:

"Well, this is very flattering, but I am sure I am not so perfect. Think hard, because I want to improve too. Steve Hardy, can you think of sumthig?" Steve said he coul just omittit thing, & she said, "Well, you rite it on the board to remind me of it, & I will not do it all the year." So Steve went up to the board & rite:

"You Likk Us Fellers!"

Miss Palmer said she wouldn't promis not to do that smay mor, as she didn't think it was a failin, but she would try a littel. Wel, we know wut that means, say wut? But it was bridy of Steve to rite it, as the most of us wouldn't daul.

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER DEAD FROM GASOLINE FIRE BURNS

Port Arthur, Tex., Dec. 31.—Mrs. E. M. Barnett, aged 52 years and her mother, Mrs. Mathews, are dead from the effects of burns received from an explosion resulting from using gasoline to start a fire. The two women came here recently from New Iberia, La.

BLUE BLOOD

that was our worst failin' & promis to stop it for one year. So we all dun so sum of the principal things being as follows:

Andy Anderson will swear off invitng foolish things.

Phil Wiglesworth will swear off oversleeping too hard.

Genevieve Hicks will swear off rit ing such sad poetry.

Torp Stebbins will swear off being half fer school.

George McLaughlin will swear off lendin his littel brother fer persons to try new things on.

Fatty Bellows will swear off think ing about things to ste.

Miss Palmer said that showed a handfull desire on the part of se veral of us & would mark the school much humpler. & now she herself probly had one or two fallings which she coulnt think of just then, but probly sum of us could. & if we would mention them she would tex & not do them any more. Well, nobody could think of anything at all, or if they could they didn't daur say so, as she said:

"Well, this is very flattering, but I am sure I am not so perfect. Think hard, because I want to improve too. Steve Hardy, can you think of sumthig?" Steve said he coul just omittit thing, & she said, "Well, you rite it on the board to remind me of it, & I will not do it all the year." So Steve went up to the board & rite:

"You Likk Us Fellers!"

Miss Palmer said she wouldn't promis not to do that smay mor, as she didn't think it was a failin, but she would try a littel. Wel, we know wut that means, say wut? But it was bridy of Steve to rite it, as the most of us wouldn't daul.

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER DEAD FROM GASOLINE FIRE BURNS

Port Arthur, Tex., Dec. 31.—Mrs. E. M. Barnett, aged 52 years and her mother, Mrs. Mathews, are dead from the effects of burns received from an explosion resulting from using gasoline to start a fire. The two women came here recently from New Iberia, La.

BLUE BLOOD

that was our worst failin' & promis to stop it for one year. So we all dun so sum of the principal things being as follows:

Andy Anderson will swear off invitng foolish things.

Phil Wiglesworth will swear off oversleeping too hard.

Genevieve Hicks will swear off rit ing such sad poetry.

Torp Stebbins will swear off being half fer school.

George McLaughlin will swear off lendin his littel brother fer persons to try new things on.

Fatty Bellows will swear off think ing about things to ste.

Miss Palmer said that showed a handfull desire on the part of se veral of us & would mark the school much humpler. & now she herself probly had one or two fallings which she coulnt think of just then, but probly sum of us could. & if we would mention them she would tex & not do them any more. Well, nobody could think of anything at all, or if they could they didn't daur say so, as she said:

"Well, this is very flattering, but I am sure I am not so perfect. Think hard, because I want to improve too. Steve Hardy, can you think of sumthig?" Steve said he coul just omittit thing, & she said, "Well, you rite it on the board to remind me of it, & I will not do it all the year." So Steve went up to the board & rite:

"You Likk Us Fellers!"

Miss Palmer said she wouldn't promis not to do that smay mor, as she didn't think it was a failin, but she would try a littel. Wel, we know wut that means, say wut? But it was bridy of Steve to rite it, as the most of us wouldn't daul.

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER DEAD FROM GASOLINE FIRE BURNS

Port Arthur, Tex., Dec. 31.—Mrs. E. M. Barnett, aged 52 years and her mother, Mrs. Mathews, are dead from the effects of burns received from an explosion resulting from using gasoline to start a fire. The two women came here recently from New Iberia, La.

BLUE BLOOD

that was our worst failin' & promis to stop it for one year. So we all dun so sum of the principal things being as follows:

Andy Anderson will swear off invitng foolish things.

Phil Wiglesworth will swear off oversleeping too hard.

Genevieve Hicks will swear off rit ing such sad poetry.

Torp Stebbins will swear off being half fer school.

George McLaughlin will swear off lendin his littel brother fer persons to try new things on.

Fatty Bellows will swear off think ing about things to ste.

Miss Palmer said that showed a handfull desire on the part of se veral of us & would mark the school much humpler. & now she herself probly had one or two fallings which she coulnt think of just then, but probly sum of us could. & if we would mention them she would tex & not do them any more. Well, nobody could think of anything at all, or if they could they didn't daur say so, as she said:

"Well, this is very flattering, but I am sure I am not so perfect